

ASTOR'S SLAYER FIGHTS CHAIR

Minister's Slayer Says Not Guilty

HACKENSACK, N. J. (UNP).—Mrs. Claudia Sumner who shot the Rev. George Washington Armstead to death was indicted for first degree murder by the Bergen County Grand Jury Tuesday morning.

She appeared with her lawyer, Atty. Joseph Gaudet before Judge Fielding and he entered a plea of not guilty on her behalf. Under New Jersey law a not guilty plea must be entered to a first degree murder indictment.

The Prosecutor asked for a trial by jury for her trial fixed for January 10th. This means a jury in another county. It is usually requested because it is felt the defendant will not get a fair trial from a local jury. But in this case with the state making the request, the motive is believed to be local prejudice against Claudia getting the chair.

Her rich family lives in this county at Englewood and they are influential. In this county most of the sentiment is on Claudia's side.

Under the New Jersey law, a first-degree murder verdict carries with it the death penalty unless a recommendation for mercy is made by the jury. Prosecutor Breslin has indicated that he will demand the extreme penalty when Claudia is brought trial.

Claudia has lost 25 pounds in the last year from illness. She now weighs only 98 pounds.

When she appeared for arraignment the courtroom was crowded. Claudia appeared indifferent to her fate.

REV. RICKS' STATEMENT

Priest Will Visit In Jersey City

The Church of Christ The King, Jersey City has made remarkable progress during the first decade of its existence. Guided by the able and zealous pastor, Rev. Joseph A. Shovlin, the Church has become one of the leading colored Catholic Churches in the United States.

The parish activities, both spiritual and social, are unsurpassed. At present the combined societies of the church are preparing for an event which will be the first of its kind in the history of the parish. On Friday, Dec. 9, at 8 P. M., the Rev. Gladstone Wilson, S.T.D., Ph.D., J.C.D., colored Catholic priest, secretary to the Bishop of Jersey, will be celebrated at a Holy Hour Service in the Church of Christ, The King.

Doctor Wilson, who was ordained in Rome, Italy, six years ago, is internationally famous not only because he is one of our first colored Catholic priests but also because of his unusual brilliance, by which he has merited the highest ecclesiastical and scholarship honors.

All members of the colored race will be welcome to the Church of Christ, The King, on this occasion. Music will be furnished by the Boys' Vested Choir of 40 voices. Immediately after the service, Doctor Wilson will be guest of honor at a musicale and reception which will follow in the church auditorium. This affair will feature the parish talent and will be the debut of the newly organized Parish Glee Club. It is expected that the church will be filled to capacity and that a most enjoyable evening will be had by all.

Dismiss Mitchell In Jim Crow Suit

WASHINGTON, D. C. A complaint by Representative Arthur W. Mitchell, Democrat of Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway, in forcing him to leave a Pullman car and ride in a "Jim Crow" coach failed to provide him and for other members of his race all viewed as a discriminatory action. Mitchell was dismissed last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission with the finding that the railroad's treatment of Negro passengers was not unjust or unlawful. The Commission refused to grant to Representative Mitchell the relief he asked for. "Racial and religious discrimination and prejudice in the future of the alleged

Two members of the commission, Joseph B. Eastman and William E. Lee, dissented, and Commissioner Carroll Miller dissented sometime in December.

Mayor Hague Sees Boy Legislators Off

Left, B. Green and Herbert C. Capron, two colored boys in play group, were given send-off with the boy legislators. Mayor Hague, at center, is seen with the "Older Boys' Convention" of the Y. M. C. A. at Trenton December 2, 3 and 4. Above group, members of the Bergen County Y. M. C. A. at Jersey City. Mr. Endersby, on extreme left, is head of the Bergen Y. M. C. A.

Game Raid Youth To Have Model Assembly

Six hundred older boys of New Jersey, about one-fourth of them colored, representing practically every town and city in the State, will gather at the State Capitol in Trenton the weekend of December 2, 3, and 4 to conduct a "Model Legislature" and to participate in the functions of government.

This year's program, for good government and training in citizenship, is being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. of New Jersey at the annual State Older Boys' Conference. The six hundred delegates represent 108 Y. M. C. A. high school clubs of New Jersey with a membership of approximately 1,000 high school boys.

"Boy Senators" and "Boy Judges" have been chosen. They have a budget from each committee and will actually sit in the Senate's regular sessions and representatives from their committees. They in turn will be involved into various committees and will present and discuss bills for good government drawn up by local Y. M. C. A. clubs. The theme of the conference is "CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP IN A DEMOCRACY."

The purpose of this program is to give boys an understanding of the government and to give them an understanding of the government. It is a common sense fact that Negroes, despite this law, are frequently refused service either outright or by subtle methods. Two of them were informed at the Belle Mead Inn, the nearest hotel place to the Club, that they were not wanted.

To provide an opportunity for the consideration of problems of religion, education, social welfare, health and economics in a more practical manner, the boys will be divided into groups to study and discuss these subjects.

The "Women" told at the last meeting, held at the home of Miss Frances Young, president of the all the proceeds of the Monte Carlo affair, held recently at the Afro Club, for Xmas bazaar's for the needy. The club, its activities being charitable and social, has been organized for two years. Miss Nellie Waldstrom and Miss Edith Wyne were announced as new members. Other members include the Misses Alcindor Carter, Evelyn Timmins, Janette Mulford, Agnes Campbell, Jo Ann Hagan and Julia Baker.

Rev. Ricks Did Not Plan To Return Here

The Rev. E. E. Ricks issued the following statement about the Pilgrim Baptist Church's recent situation:

To the Editor:

New Jersey Herald News:

I have no comments as to the action of the Pilgrim Baptist Church and certainly none as to the resignation of its Minister, the latter being a personal matter in which I am NOT the least concerned. Of course I deeply regret that, according to press reports, any statement was made charging me as being in part the cause which led to the offering of the resignation in question. God knows and every truthful citizen as well as the writer, knows that I have never held a secret meeting with any member or members of the Pilgrim Baptist Church, anywhere or at any time during my "frequent" visits to Newark, New Jersey. It is true that I have preached at other churches because the Minister at Pilgrim has never extended me an invitation to preach. Pilgrim on any special occasion. However, he did state to me when he first assumed charge as Minister that, "The pulpit of Pilgrim is open to you anytime you are in Newark." Of course I regarded such a general invitation in the light in which it was given—a gentlemanly and courteous formality.

I was invited by one of the Churches of the church to preach for them in the interest of the Rally. I believe, but I would not consent to come without a written invitation of the Minister that he had no objection to my

Burnett Cites Racial Rights

"Negroes have the same rights as any other citizens in being granted licenses to operate establishments for the sale of alcoholic beverages," said Commissioner D. Frederick Burnett of the New Jersey State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control last week in a communication directed to the Excise Board of the City of Trenton in connection with the application of a group of colored citizens for a club license.

In the letter the Commissioner quoted from his decision in the case of Williams vs. Hillsborough in which he said: "It is all very well to talk of the theoretical practical given to Negroes under the Civil Rights Act, which provides that no tavern keeper shall refuse to sell drinks to patrons merely because of color. However, it is a commonplace fact that Negroes, despite this law, are frequently refused service either outright or by subtle methods. Two of them were informed at the Belle Mead Inn, the nearest hotel place to the Club, that they were not wanted."

Urban League Report Made

In the report of the New Jersey Urban League, for the month of October, 1938, Harold A. Lett cites the following:

Your executive has an opportunity to make a report to the Board of Education, relative to the proposed reorganization of Belmont School as a city high school; subtle forms of discrimination reported in connection with school and recreation department activities, and related matters. Also, in connection with representatives of the Negro Congress conferred with the executive of the Newark Chamber of Commerce in the matter of work opportunities for Negroes. This official volunteered to find a way to have published the reports on our 1938 Vocational Survey covering the metropolitan area. To date we have had no report as to the results of this effort.

In September we reported a revival of the effort to secure placement of Negro students on WPA projects. During October the administration placed four of the men in whom we are interested, but again the plan has been retarded, as far as making a really worthwhile unit. With the addition of T. Arnold Hill of the National office to the Federal Administration of WPA, in the role of consultant, we feel hopeful as to the ultimate outcome of this effort.

Episcopal Meet Opens

CHICAGO, Ill.—The plight of the Negro was aired along with that of the Jews at the opening of the Protestant Episcopal Church conference which began here Tuesday. Bishop George Craig Stewart, chairman of the conference, sounded the keynote of the meeting Monday by his criticism of the treatment of the German Jews. He also stated he felt great injustice had been done the Negroes in America.

Speaking at the funeral, he said: "He was a man of God, chastised me when I was wrong and praised me when I was right. He has gone before a God who can handle any case."

During the interview, he recollected how Reverend Armstead as a youth in his early twenties, was licensed to preach and was called as pastor of the Church which was located in a small building on Hudson Street and had a membership of less than a dozen. Always progressive, he soon realized that a more central location was essential. So, less than two years later, and still with a "hand-full" of members, he led his flock to the present location. She recalled his subsequent ordination, and that the Reverend William Smith, D. D., deceased pastor was the brother who manipulated the sale for the $5 prospective jurors to sit for the first half of the December term of the Grand Jury. His name was drawn by Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Van Riper. Twenty-three jurors are to be selected and sworn on December 13th.

Mother Chavoes was happy to relate that at the pastor's tenth anniversary which was celebrated a few months ago that their membership had increased to more than two hundred, and was steadily growing. The Governor street location was fast becoming inadequate. One of the happiest incidents as pictured occurred about a month ago when the pastor's mother, Mrs. Rachel Armstead, was visiting him. Quote: "He asked his mother to stand then asked me to. There, he told the congregation. These are my two mothers." You know, he was his mother's heart.

The most touching incident related was when Mother Chavoes related how bewildered she was when informed of the pastor's death. She described how she rushed to his home, and how his bereaved widow, Bertha, obeyed "He was such a good husband to me. You know, Mother Chavoes, I had no cause to doubt him."

She recalled his favorite hymn "Take My Hand, Blessed Lord and lead me on." And God led him on.

On Jury

HAROLD A. LETT
New Jersey Urban League director, who was drawn on the list of $5 prospective jurors to sit for the first half of the December term of the Grand Jury. His name was drawn by Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Van Riper. Twenty-three jurors are to be selected and sworn on December 13th.

Noted Model Is Busy Girl

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.—Miss Inge Hardison, featured in "Life" Magazine two months ago as a model for the Arts Student League of New York is a busy young woman and a successful one.

Born in Portsmouth, Va. she moved to Brooklyn with her family and began modelling for the famed artist, Sacha Koln who wanted to sculpt a Negro girl. At the same time she found herself in the cast of "Country Wife" then at the Gilbert Miller Theatre in New York. It was after that she began posing for the Student League. "Life" magazine detailing the pictorial history of American art, photographed a class at the league and the central figure of the class was Miss Hardison.

While posing she watched other students and from their work became interested herself in handling clay. Now she is expert in the art herself.

Miss Hardison is also in a new play "What a Life" and one of the show's stars. It is modeled by her. She plays the part of a schoolgirl in the play and is the only colored member of the cast.

A resident of Scotch Plains the last 15 years she attends Calvary Baptist Church where she has made a bust of the Rev. Charles F. Harris, the pastor.

She has tried to get on the Major Bowes amateur hour but has not made it yet. She describes the red tape she encountered in seeking a reason for not being auditioned. The result was that she was sent to Junia Hall of the WPA Theatre and here she wound up by having her script of her first play "Sweet River" accepted over 200 other scripts.

The busy girl has also published some of the poems in the New York Times—"Soliloquy," "Home from Work" and "Verge." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hardison who own a poultry farm here at 245 Park avenue.

Minister Resigns

SPRINGFIELD: — Rev. O. E. Kelley, pastor of the Anti-Baptist Church, here has been asked to resign following differences with members over the handling of finances, it was learning this week.

As a result the Deacon board which has failed to appoint a successor, is inviting fill-in ministers for each Sunday's services.

Rev. Kelley was called to the church as pastor three years ago. According to a spokesman of the Board, no set salary was arranged. The income of the church was to be split fifty-fifty.

After a year this arrangement proved unsatisfactory to the pastor and the new agreement carried a new increase.

Flat Foot Healed

Harold A. Lett, Executive Secretary of the New Jersey Urban League, announced this week that he had been healed of a flat foot which had troubled him for many years.

A controversy has been raging between the Commissioner and Mr. Lett over this provision in the New Jersey Law, Congenital flat feet as a bar against a person serving on the police force was discarded by the New York Commission seven years ago and by the U. S. Army ten years ago.

This restriction resulted in almost wholesale rejection of Negro candidates in the recent physical examinations for the police department. Much data has been collected including the fact that such outstanding race athletes as Joe Louis, Jesse Owens and Ben Johnson all suffer from congenital flat feet.

Injured In Accident

EAST ORANGE: — William of 161 North Clinton Street, was seriously injured when he was struck by a truck on Ambrose Street near Central Avenue last Wednesday night. He is in the Orange Memorial Hospital suffering from two broken legs and a possible skull fracture.

Rev. Rick's Statement

was gathered at the time despite the fact that the Minister was coming. A very generous offering suddenly stricken after the morning service and was conspicuously absent from the services.

I have copies of letters written to members when they were asked to contribute to the fund in the manner in which the Minister conducted affairs in which I advised them that "every Minister has his own way of administering the affairs of the church" and I have in each case urged them to patiently wait and try to accept themselves to the new situation.

On one of my "frequent" visits Elder Wilson took me around in his car and I visited a number of the members of Pilgrim Church urging them to be loyal to the church for the work's sake and in view of the fact that I suggested the name of the Minister, who they called to them.

In view of the fact that my activities in connection with the affairs of Pilgrim so far as being a hindrance to her progress are almost nonexistent, manufactured out of whole cloth and connected in the heart of some non-thinking, carping, meddling, scandal-mongering, ignorant, I cannot believe the Minister of Pilgrim made any such accusations despite the fact that she published them in connection with the news as to why he tendered his resignation. The further fact that Ministerial ethics, to say nothing about Christian conduct, would prohibit any Minister from maligning his brother, renders non-believing that such erroneous statements could fall from the lips of or flow from the pen of a decent layman to say nothing of an Ambassador of Jesus Christ. Finally, since, so far as I know, there were no charges filed against me, existing between the Minister of Pilgrim and myself I cannot believe she would be guilty of such reprehensible conduct.

I regret that you used as headlines in your paper for the week ending Saturday, November 12, 1938, "Rev. Rick's May Return to Pilgrim." THE IDEA OF RETURNING TO PILGRIM HAS NEVER EVEN REMOTELY CROSSED MY MIND, as the Lord is wonderfully blessing the labors of our hands in this place.

In conclusion, I defy anyone, either friend or foe, who can prove or truthfully state that I ever "held a secret meeting" or that I am guilty of anything which would hinder the progress of Pilgrim Church since its organization.

Yours in the Service,
E. Ethelrick Rick.

The News-Through A Woman's Eyes

By ILLIAN HUFF
Scanning the pages of the New Jersey Herald News I was impressed with two articles of politics. In the first, throwing violent words at each other instead of showing united front, the getting by their education and opportunities that they had been given the power of leading their race instead of wasting time in so much the practice. Our leaders so seldom our leaders anything but name in their fight for leadership and a few paltry dollars they forget the cause for which they were anxious to lead.

Again the crime of ill-treatment, a pastor who should have been a model for his congregation, steps aside forgetting the teachings, the ten commandments which were made for lowly man and made rather than one who has pledged himself to God. So it seems to me that something should be done to make the ministry a little more to enter, self examinations, state examinations, anything to keep so many anxious to make an easy living for those who were not read should first let their own house in order. How can we expect so much from the young when the old are not even examples?

Lynching again a headline. The world is an open book where the Jews are being persecuted. In America the Scottsboro Boys are being persecuted because of a crime not committed. And we, a generous race, worrying about helping others. Provide for your own first.

Now that the members of the Commission have been appointed, New Jersey colored citizens can cease their guessing contest about who will and who won't be appointed. Now start betting on what will or won't be done.

UNIA To Hold Meet

The Garvey Club of the UNIA is presenting a special program opened to the public on Wednesday evening and Sunday afternoon at their hall at 135 Broome Street.

The universal plan of Negro redemption to influence aid in a campaign of racial uplift will be the theme of these meetings.

Special social meetings are held on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Mr. Stinson is president; Mrs. Amos, secretary and Dr. Alice Guy, reporter.

Later in the same letter the Commissioner made this very significant quotation: "Once you give them the opportunity where respectable members of the race may buy from their own and sit down in peace and quiet without being made to be deadly conscious that they are not wanted, then you are in a position to insist on strict enforcement and to brook no evasions or abuses."

This is not the first time Commissioner Burnett has been outspoken on this question of race prejudice. In practically every case that has been brought to him on appeal where there was evidence that licenses had been refused on account of race, creed or color, Commissioner Burnett has overruled the local boards and directed the granting of licenses or punishment of individuals who were guilty of discrimination in conduct of their licensed business.

sometimes." It was signed, but if I am any judge, it was the girl who was with Snake in the Eureka last Monday night. The other just said: "Put it in your paper." The contents of the letter was as follows: "Mary Stripling has what it takes, and no wonder for she has a shape that would make Mae West look like a flatiron." It was signed "The Boy from the City—New, Crisp, Bold, and so on." Now that I've gotten that off my chest, here we go with some of the highlights around town:

Why is Florida Kid, the old Georgia boy, seen with the same skin at all times? It must be, because if it is, it might take time to the suggestion in that song, "Change Partners."

SCOOPI! Cliff Page releases his statement to this paper exclusively. "I am off women until Spring, when things start to get going." At the same time I heard John Spray mumble: "Me too." I know how you feel girls, but don't cry, because Spring is just around the corner.

Poor Louis Simmons, it is about time that he got tipped to himself. Only cheap boys take their girlfriends to the Eureka. That goes for you, too, Robby Bland.

In speaking of Robby, I am reminded to congratulate both him and William "One Day" Atkins for their success on the High School football team. These boys should not only be congratulated for the success on the team, but also for the fact that they didn't become swell-headed over the fact that they were heroes. My hat is off to you boys.

Why doesn't Sandy Kearny buy himself a pack of cigarettes for a change and stop trying to grub from everyone he meets? "True love never runs smoothly," goes the old saying. And the funny thing is that the saying is true. If you don't believe me, ask the couple who staged the reunion in the Eureka on Tuesday night. "We were surprised to find that Bish doesn't spend his evenings alone any more. It is being said that that Oliver Tann, who is the perfect fink, at least Ash thinks so. I guess I will have to stop now, because some body meaked up behind me and stole my thinking cap." J. R. I.

For Women Only

By ANNE DePAUR REID

From time to time I have asked your opinion of this column and this week I am doing it again.

This column is for you and I would like to discuss your problems with you and to write about the things you are interested in.

I have open to me several sources of information on things "For Women Only". I would enjoy passing some of this on to you.

To the ladies who have sent in their favorite recipes, I am grateful. Don't think I have forgotten or mislaid them. You will see them in print in the very near future.

The chart printed here is one that covers generalities only. You yourself have some personal problems about your dress I am sure. Won't you let me know about them, and see if I can't help you?

ADVICE FOR MILADY
If Your Skirts are too broad for your body: Wear skirts comfortably fitted over hips. Let fullness in gradually below the knees. Do not wear straight skirts, short tunics or a full gathered skirt, unless gathers are fastened flat in waist.

If you are Flat-Chested: Wear plenty of shirtwaist or shirred bodice dresses. Do not wear close fitting sweaters or too severely tailored dresses.

If your bust is too full: Chose careful bodice drapings. Wear deep necklines. Do not wear yoke or high-button-up collars or bright colored knitted garments.

If you are taller than average: Wear plain dark dresses and small crowned hats. Don't wear colors that contrast too sharply.

If your shorter than average: Wear high necks, high waisted dresses and high hats. Don't have your skirt and blouse of contrasting colors.

If shoulders are narrow and sloping: Use shoulder seam shirring. Insert shoulder pads in sleeves. Do not wear plain fitted or short puffed sleeves in dresses.

If your ankles are too thick: Wear low-cut shoes of the sandal variety. Do not wear extremely high heels or low colored shoes.

If your neck is too short: Wear draped shoulder dresses with round necks. Do not wear extremely high or low necked dresses.

An old favorite for Sunday nite suppers.

Rumor Paige 'Slim' Jones Arm Is "Dead"

Baseball circles have been humming with the report that the great pitching arm of Satchell Paige has gone dead. Several players who were with "Satch" in South America last summer reluctantly verified this report recently.

The rumor revived acted significance when Satchell rejected offers to play ball in Cuba or Porto Rico this winter. Satchell is now in Pittsburgh having the ailing member treated.

Paige has been the "problem child" of Negro Baseball for the last four years. Newark fans will recall that he was traded to the Eagles last year but instead of reporting here he sailed for South America where he played until his arm stopped him from playing.

Satchell will have to stay clear of New York for he faces a contempt of court order for jumping the Eagles.

Rated for years the greatest pitcher in baseball the news that the great throwing arm that brought him fame and a small fortune comes as a shock to baseball fans throughout the country.

Strode Scores

Strode star end of the UCLIA team, scored his team's lone touchdown against University of Southern California, Thanksgiving Day. Kenny Washington was bottled up all afternoon by the strong Trojan line and failed to get away on any of his famous runs.

Brad Holland ended up his collegiate grid career with a fine performance against the University of Pennsylvania. The game ended in a scoreless tie but Brad was a tower of strength on the defense and produced his team's largest gains on his famed end around play.

'Slim' Jones

By OLIVER "BUTTS" BROWN

"Slim" Jones, that slow-moving, long, lean, scapular and colorful figure is dead. The great speed ball artist of the Philly stars went to his agonizingly slow death and was called out by that final Arthur from whose decision there is no appeal. Death came to him at the family home at 555 W. 10th St. Baltimore a week ago Saturday.

Probably no colored player has ever created the sensation that Jones did the first year, 1934, when he came out of Baltimore just a long six-foot-five inch kid of 18 with a long, slow stride, a courageous heart and an arm that had the power to throw a case ball with blinding speed. Jones became the ace hurler of the Philadelphia stars and won 32 games and lost only 4. Included in that set of victories were three wins over Satchell Paige and his Pittsburgh Crawfords.

During the off season that year, Slim became a playboy and his escapades in the Quaker City and elsewhere became a topic among his baseball friends. "Slim" forgot to care for that arm that had brought him fame and the next season the old zip on his curve and hop on his fast ball were gone. "Slim" Jones had been reduced from a $100,000 beauty to just another pitcher. He was such a good batter and could also play first base that he has stayed on with the Stars being used in the capacity of a pinch hitter and first baseman. Then there was always the hope and possibility that he could comeback and what owner would want to turn a hurler like Jones loose and find that his arm had regained its former power?

"Slim" accepted his fate like a real stoic and never murmured or complained. He was always full of fun and a great "jockey." In Baltimore this fall a picked team of colored players were opposing "Jimmy" Fox and a team of major league players. The white boys had slammed the offerings of the sepien hurlers to every corner of the lot. In desperation the manager of the colored team called on "Slim" to take the mound.

Everybody noted an air of confidence and look of determination lighten the countenance of the former "boy wonder" as he strode to the mound, picked himself and cocked his leg and let go. A cheer from the fans pierced the crisp September air. It was "Slim" Jones' fast ball with all the speed and hop it ever had. For six in-

MORGAN'S STREAK CHECKED, 15-5

ETRICKS, Va.—The sensational drive that Morgan College Bears football team made to surpass the present consecutive win record, fell here Thanksgiving Day before the onslaughts of the Virginia State Trojans. Coaches Hurt and Hill (shown above, center, between Co-Captains Ryan and Gordon) had plotted the "wonder teams" through six years without a defeat. State's 15 to 5 victory was the biggest upset in Negro collegiate circles, and the game was the final one for both eleven.

Brud Holland's Name To Be Immortalized

ITHACA, N. Y.—Jerome (Brud) Holland's name will live forever at Cornell University. The college officials are going to name a new gymnasium after their All-American end.

One hundred and sixteen sports writers throughout the United States selected Holland on their All-American team and their All-East team last week for the second consecutive year.

He stood the men who had "Dizzy" Dean, Hubbell, Lefty Grove and Gomez on their collective ears. "Slim" Jones' ARM HAD COME BACK!

The baseball world was looking with childish enthusiasm for the 1938 season and a return of Jones to the mound. He was destined to again scale the heights but instead of being a member of the Philly Stars he has joined Babe Foster and the other Negro diamond mortals who have passed to the Great Beyond. May his spirit live in peace and may baseball fans never forget that slow

The New York Daily News, which sponsored the idea, said this of Holland: "Brud Holland, another repeater, was the greatest offensive end of the season. The colored boy, for whom Cornell is naming a new gymnasium, was brilliant on end around plays. They call him the 'fifth backfielder'."

Holland was also selected on the "Paramount Newswear" All-American team for the left end position. Holland seems a certainty to cop All-American honors on all teams this season. He graduates this year.

Johnson And Bennett Star

The brilliant playing of Nate Johnson and 118-pound George Bennett featured East Orange's victory over Barringer in their thrill packed Thanksgiving Day battle. East Orange was the winner by a score of 13-6.

After Barringer had drawn first blood as a result of a blocked punt and a series of plunges Johnson and Bennett started a 68 yard scoring march that could not be denied. Starting on their 32 yard line Bennett went to the 40, Johnson made it first down on the 46 and then moved the ball into Barringer territory on a off tackle slant. Johnson then passed the ball to Bennett on a reverse and he streaked to the 21. Johnson smashed to the 40 and on the next play Bennett lost 6 yards but the midjet star came back fighting to push the ball over for a score.

With the score tie and three minutes remaining to play Johnson circled Barringer's end for 14 yards and the winning touchdown. After the game the police had to form a guard around Johnson to keep him from being mobbed from over enthusiastic admirers.

Henry To Fight In Cleveland

Henry Armstrong will make a second defense of his welterweight title against Al Manfredi at Cleveland Dec. 6. The little Brown Bomber emerged from the Garcia encounter in good condition and is expected to dispose of his latest challenger in short order.

After Manfredi, Henry will have no other worthy foes and may have to wait around until the outdoor season when he takes on Lou Ambers in a return engagement for the lightweight title.

Henry Called "Wonder Boy"

Henry Armstrong proved to the world Friday night by defeating Cerefino Garcia in defending his welterweight title at Madison Square Garden, that he is one of the greatest fighting champions in the world.

He proved that he could give as much as he can take and then some. Garcia proved that he is one of the most dangerous punchers in the game today. It was the toughest fight New York has been in a long time. Now Henry can rest up a while until he cut his completely healed.

So, we take our hats off to you Henry as the ring will never get another champ like you the wonder boy of the fighting game. The boy with that perpetual motion.

Peacock Eyes '40 Olympics

It was learned this week that Eulace Peacock former Temple University track star will stage a comeback this winter on indoor tracks. Peacock will start a campaign which he hopes will land him a place on the U. S. 1940 Olympic team. A leg injury ruined his chances of making the last team.

Peacock's case recalls how he gave up football upon entering the Philadelphia institution and deprived Pop Warner of probably one of the greatest backs he has ever had. Eulace was a great ball carrier in high school and could have probably made any college team in the country, but his coach considered the injury occurred.

It is one of those things that this same coach was charged with ruining Peacock's chances of making the team when he used him in a number of events in the Penn Relays in 1938 and 1939.

Keep Punching With Pedro Lombardo

Well, fight fans, I am up, back again after illness for two weeks and I am back with a bang. One of the greatest heavyweights in his time, Old Harry Willis, the man that Jack Dempsey refused to meet, has a colored boy that fights like himself of the olden days.

Counting ring tricks in general, a knowledge of the game in which he had won his last twelve fights, will tell you more about him in the near future.

Larry Lane, the fighting demon from Trenton, proved in his last fight at the Laurel Garden against Nick Young of Philadelphia that he has the making of a champion, but he shows a little more weight and light heavyweight division, because a good big man can beat a good little man.

I understand Ray Mill's manager is going to New York to post a $2,500 guarantee for Ray to fight the light heavyweight championship contenders since John Henry Lewis lives up to the light heavyweight title to fight Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight diadem.

That leaves Tiger Jack Fox and Al Gainer, who will fight in the near future at Madison Square Garden, and Ray Miller to fight it out for the light heavyweight championship. Good luck, Ray, as all Jersey fight fans are with you.
